GAY WEDDING FOR TAB HUNTER, 83!

Hunter with Mona Freeman starred in Battle Cry

TAB HUNTER has one more act left in his amazing life – a wedding to his longtime boyfriend, Allan Glaser!

Hunter, 83, was a movie heartthrob in the 1950s despite widespread speculation about his sexuality – and he didn't publicly reveal he was gay until publishing a memoir in 2005.

By that time, Hunter had long settled into his relationship with Glaser, a film producer 30 years his junior.

"I'm just a very fortunate and very thankful man," says Hunter.

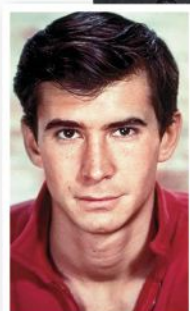

Now that the star is reaching the twilight of his life, friends say he's ready to tie the knot.

"It's never meant much to him to get married, but he knows Allan loves the idea," a pal tells GLOBE. "This is his way of honoring the man who has been his best friend, protector and loyal confidante for so many years."

"Tab never thought he would see the day when gay people would be allowed to marry. He's a product of the old studio system, where people like himself, Rock Hudson and Anthony Perkins were kept closeted by their agents and studio heads."

Hunter burst to stardom in his 1955 hit film Battle Cry, but he's best remembered as Joe Hardy in the 1958 big screen musical Damn Yankees!

With his blonde, wholesome looks, he quickly became one of Hollywood's hottest movie idols. He was such a dreamboat, female admirers swamped him with more than 62,000 Valentines in 1956.

Ex-flame Anthony Perkins

But while Hunter romanced the likes of Natalie Wood, Sophia Loren and Debbie Reynolds on screen, he lived a secret double life that included a two-year romance with Psycho star Perkins.

After a long career lull, he made a comeback in a series of movies by cult director John Waters in the 1980s. And he found the spotlight once again with his best-selling memoir, Tab Hunter Confidential – The Making of a Movie Star.

But along the way, he's faced health challenges including a heart attack in 1980 and a stroke 11 years later. He has since had a quadruple heart bypass and his prostate was removed. While he has recovered, the actor is slowing down and prefers to spend his days at his Montecito, Calif., home with Glaser, says a friend.

"Tab realizes he's reaching the end of his very colorful, very successful life," notes the friend. "He knows a commitment to marriage would mean a great deal to Allan."

While friends believe the pair will marry within months, they don't expect it to be a star-studded affair.

"Tab has warm feelings for the old Hollywood guard who are still around, but he doesn't socialize much," says the friend. "They'll get married quietly and under the radar, which is how Tab has always preferred to keep his private life."

On the video, he makes weird faces in a mirror, sticks his tongue out and forms a gun with his fingers pretending to shoot himself.

He also doodles a full-body drawing of First Lady Michelle and takes selfies showing him trying to dunk a large cookie into a glass of milk. Failing, he mutters "Thanks, Obama."

Kansas psychologist and attorney Dr. Brian Russell says Obama's behavior in the video "shows tremendously poor timing and lack of judgement."

"At a time when we have military fires burning all over the world, when a young American woman was killed by ISIS and other innocents are being beheaded, he presents this light-hearted piece of fluff to the public," adds Dr. Russell.

"This was an extremely narcissistic thing to do. He is the CEO of our country and responsible to all of us shareholders.

"Instead, he spends our money to horse around in the Oval Office."

And the first doctor tells GLOBE the President's antics in the video and other behaviors show "classic signs of at least two severe mental defects."

"His mugging for the camera - including sticking his tongue out and making funny faces - is the typical attention seeking behavior of someone with these personality disorders.

"He is desperate to draw attention to himself at any cost. This explains his bizarre actions on the video as well as his penchant for politics.

"Like many people with these disorders, Obama is flamboyant and theatrical. But he also infamously displays other traits including a failure to focus on detail and an apparent tendency towards depression.

"People with these conditions also have problems in their intimate relationships and don't seem to be genuine," the doc says.

Obama also displays classic narcissism symptoms, including the need to be admired, a feeling of grandiosity, entitlement, lack of genuine feelings, arrogance and attention seeking behavior," says the expert.

PERVY BIDEN GROPES BUDDY'S WIFE!

VICE President Joe Biden is a serial groper!

These shocking photos show the touchy-feely Veep running his paws all over the wife of the newly installed Secretary of Defense Ash Carter.

But it's not the first time he's come under fire for getting too up close and personal with women.

Body language expert Dr. Lillian Glass calls married Biden's antics "an absolute disgrace."

"The Vice President should be ashamed of himself," she tells GLOBE. "It's not right for someone in his position or for ANYONE to act in this manner."

The shameful moment came as the 72-year-old politician attended Carter's induction into his new job.

While the new Secretary of Defense began to deliver a speech, Biden called Carter's wife Stephanie from across the room and began running his hands over her shoulders. After 20 seconds, he leaned to whisper into her ear.

The awkwardness finally ended apply to him because he is 'special.' Many people in high office and leadership positions suffer from Narcissistic Personality Disorder. In fact, this condition compels them to the top - but once they achieve success they frequently fail."

The expert believes Obama's problems go back to his childhood when he was abandoned by his mother and sent to live with his grandparents in Hawaii. This feeling of parental abandonment and neglect may have triggered NPD.

His seeming psychopathic behavior - a need for instant gratification and a lack of behavioral restraints - are also linked to NPD and are associated with anxiety, anger, hostility and depression due to feelings of abandonment.

"Psychopaths are very egotistical and notoriously amoral," says the expert. "They often have a history of criminal behavior or flaunting the law - like Obama's early cocaine and drug use - and lie about their background.

"These disorders can be considered a form of mental illness. They require long and intense treatment to be resolved."

Meanwhile, a Washington source says those around Obama are increasingly becoming concerned about his actions.

"Barack's behavior has gotten extremely erratic," says the source. "He will sometimes start talking in nonsense language, babbling incoherently, then act like what he just said makes perfect sense and expect an answer."

As GLOBE previously reported, Obama is reeling because his marriage with Michelle, 51, is in tatters.

"At night when he's alone, he's often reduced to tears," says a Washington insider. "He's tortured by the thought Americans believe he's a total failure."

Obama reportedly tries to numb his emotional pain with booze.

"He also suffers from insomnia and some nights wanders the White House halls talking to portraits of dead Presidents, asking, 'Why me?'"

His staff has become so alarmed, "they are taking precautions that he doesn't accidentally start some military action in motion that can't be recalled," the source says.

"It's an incredible crisis for the country. He needs help!"

One Web site even rounded up a collection of incidents titled, "9 Times Joe Biden Creepily Whispered in Women's Ears."

Biden's defenders claim the incidents show him as a genuine "regular guy." But Glass insists "no right-minded individual would consider what Biden did was OK.

Biden insists he and the Carters have been friends for years.

But Glass says that's no excuse for his "clearly inappropriate" behavior.

"Stephanie was squirming, looking down and had an ambivalent smile," says Glass. "She was trying to be polite, but you could see how uncomfortable she was.

"You don't put your hands on anyone, especially not a married woman whose husband is being presented to the nation in one of the country's most important positions.

DREAM BOAT!

Barbara Eden was Larry Hagman's TV genie

Plastic surgery magic keeps TV's Jeannie looking young — EXPERTS

I DREAM OF JEANNIE star Barbara Eden is 83 years old – but you'd never know it.

The stunning TV legend looks fabulous, and she didn't use her character's magical powers to look nearly half her age. Instead, experts say, Barbara had the help of some good plastic surgery.

"She appears to have had a face-lift, causing her neckline to be exceedingly sharp for her age," says Dr. Tony Youn, a Troy, Mich., cosmetic surgeon.

"She also appears to have had some fat injections into her cheeks to look quite plump.

"Her nose looks thin, possibly from a rhinoplasty. I also suspect she's had her upper eyelids lifted as well, as there is minimal skin for somebody her age."

Philadelphia plastic surgeon Dr. Lyle Back believes the blonde beauty has had minimal work –

The magical beauty at age 80

"just enough to keep up with the aging process."

He says she's had fat or filler added to her cheeks to "perpetuate a natural look and avoid detection as the years pass.

"Her arched, nicely shaped and elevated eyebrows may have had a little help – a mini brow-lift or some Botox only – nothing major."

While Back doesn't see signs of a "face-lift or neck-lift," she could have had a "mini lift," he notes. "Such a procedure provides for very nice improvements that come off as never aging rather than as desperately trying to turn back the clock," the doctor says.

Eden, who starred with Larry Hagman in the mid-1960s sitcom about a curvy genie captivated by an Air Force officer, claims eating right and exercise are her secrets to beating Father Time.

Barbara is old enough to be a great-grandma, but she's still gorgeous

TODAY

"I spin three times a week for an hour," she says. "Then I work with a trainer for half an hour with weights. It's important to lift weights for your bones."

The thrice-wed actress has also weathered tragedies. She gave birth to a stillborn child, and her 35-year-old son, Matthew, with first hubby, actor Michael Ansara, died of a drug overdose. But she's kept her sparkle and allure.

As GLOBE previously reported, President Bill Clinton, who's 15 years her junior, was spellbound by her when they met at a charity ball in Vienna in 2013!

"Bill's always had the hots for Barbara," a pal said.

Adds another source, "Barbara is incredible. She looks like a woman half her age."

OLIVIA FIXING TRAVOLTA MARRIAGE!

OLIVIA NEWTON-JOHN is desperately trying to save the marriage of her close pals JOHN TRAVOLTA and KELLY PRESTON. The couple, who have been wed for 23 years, are said to be ready to divorce. "Olivia has been making a last-ditch attempt to bring them back together," reveals an insider. "They are struggling to make their marriage work. Their issues break her heart." John and Kelly, who have two kids, ELLA, 14, and BENJAMIN, 4, have been leading separate lives for the past two years. He spends most of his time at their house in Florida, while she has been based in Los Angeles. Olivia, who is currently appearing on stage in Las Vegas, has been "acting as a go-between," says the insider. "She has lost count of the number of late night phone calls she's had with one or the other of them - sometimes both at the same time. Often they get quite tearful as they discuss their problems." The tragic 2009 death of their son, JETT, drove a huge wedge between the Travoltas, and there have been banned her from wearing makeup when she was growing up. And she had to get her aunt to sneak cosmetics into the house, so she could wear a few subtle shades that her mom wouldn't notice. "My mother has never ever worn a drop of makeup in her life - not even at her wedding," says Lupita, 31, who starred in 12 Years A Slave. "Honestly, my mother's outlook was hard for me to take when I was a teenager and wanted to experiment. My mother didn't think makeup was necessary."

SOLE SURVIVOR

WILL SMITH's kids look pretty spoiled to me. But it turns out that might not necessarily be the case. Will, who is worth $220 million, claims son JADEN only owns one pair of shoes...because the 16-year-old refuses to spend cash. Apparently, the teen says he doesn't want to be "a slave to money," says Will, who adds: "I would like him to get another pair of shoes."

SHOCKING BRUCE

Even the Village People are shocked by BRUCE JENNER's transition into a woman. The pair became pals when Bruce appeared in the 1980 Village People flick Can't Stop The

HALLE'S HELL

There's no doubt HALLE BERRY looks amazing at age 48. But the Oscar-winning beauty admits she is forever being pushed to get plastic surgery. "It is pressure when you see everybody around you doing it," she says. "I won't lie and tell you that these things don't cross my mind because someone is always suggesting it to me. It's almost like crack that people are trying to push on you."

TATTOO MUCH

She may have several tattoos on her body, but ANGELINA JOLIE doesn't want her own kids to get inked when they are older. However, the mom-of-six concedes, "I don't see how I will be able to stop them. They only need to look at me to know that I have very few arguments to dissuade them." But she thinks that hubby BRAD

PITT will put his foot down and say no. "He's much firmer on the question," says Angie.

EXPENSIVE PIE

DON MCLEAN's original handwritten manuscript for his classic 1971 hit American Pie is going up for auction in New York City in April. And it's expected to sell for a whopping $1.5 million. It includes 16 pages of drafts, corrections, deletions and scribbled notes for the beloved 8-minute song. Don, 69, is also expected to reveal some of the secrets of its lyrics. The record sale for a piece of sheet music is $2 million, which Bob Dylan's Like A Rolling Stone fetched last year.

Cassidy's teen heartthrob no more

BROKE and backed up against the wall, aging heartthrob David Cassidy is desperate to sell his home in sunny Fort Lauderdale – and does he have deal for you!

Having filed for bankruptcy because he's $500,000 in the red, the former Partridge Family star is asking a bargain basement price for his amazing waterfront mansion. He is now listing it with "ALL offers invited and considered" and announcing "MUST BE SOLD!" Previously, he'd dropped the price from $3.9 million to $3.2 million without any takers.

Mountain of debt

Real estate experts now predict the six bedroom, six bathroom 6,400-square-foot home with 131 feet of waterfront, a dock, a boat lift, a resort-style pool, a gazebo, lots of tropical foliage and, get this, its own private beach, will fetch $2.5 million OR LESS!

Despite a mountain of debt to credit card companies and lawyers, the 64-year-old former teen pinup poster boy is being forced to retire this year because of health issues, GLOBE revealed in our Jan. 19 issue.

Cassidy's Florida paradise has a dock and boat lift

Cassidy's DUI mug shot

Crippling arthritis in his fingers and back have put the I Think I Love You singer in "such excruciating agony he just can't go on much longer," an insider confides.

"He gets it in his knees, too, and is often on the point of tears because the pain's so intense.

He's tried various remedies, but nothing helps for long."

His woes don't stop there. He's had three DUI arrests in three states, and his wife, Sue, divorced him last year and moved to Los Angeles. "She tried to support him through his battle with alcohol and his DUI arrests, but it eventually became too much for her," says a source.

Cassidy should be singing Come On Get Happy after winning a three-year legal battle with Sony over profits from The Partridge Family. He sued for millions, but it was learned in January he was awarded a mere $157,964.84 – not nearly enough to wipe out his debt.

'SHADES' STARS' REAL-LIFE TORTURE

Dakota Johnson and Jamie Dornan play kinky lovers in 'Shades'

DAKOTA JOHNSON and Jamie Dornan explore the kinky world of whips and handcuffs in the steamy flick Fifty Shades of Grey – but both stars have real-life scars from childhood.

Dakota, 25, who plays innocent college coed Anastasia Steele, grew up in the shadow of famous parents Don Johnson and Melanie Griffith. She was humiliated by their public drug and booze battles.

"There were times when it was really difficult," says Dakota, who underwent therapy as a teen to deal with the issues she had with her parents.

"But I think it just made me a stronger person."

Meanwhile, Belfast-born Dornan, 32, who plays dominator Christian Grey, was in his mid-teens when his mother died of cancer and four close friends were killed in a car crash.

Says Dornan, the tragedies were "hideous and "life-changing" events. But the Irishman, who has an 18-month-old daughter, Dulcie, with his wife of two years, Amelia Warner, carries the heartache with him "everyday and that's not going to change."

Dear Debbie

Got a problem?
I want to help

DEBBIE REYNOLDS GIVES ADVICE FROM THE HEART

I love my former sister-in-law

Q: My brother and his wife got divorced last year, which has created a big problem. When my brother first brought her home years ago, she and I really hit it off. In fact, I fell in love with her but never acted on it. I've never married, in part because I never met a gal I felt as strongly about. Meanwhile, that connection between us never wavered, and she often confided in me when she and my brother were going through hard times. Now that she's available, she wants to start seeing me. My heart aches for her, but I don't want to betray my brother. What do you think?

- F.O., MINOT, N.D.

A: You could lose your brother, his wife - or both. How would your brother feel if you dated his ex-wife? This could be trouble from both sides. Don't start this unless you're prepared to make everyone mad at you. My son was in a similar situation when his first wife fell in love with his best friend. He really missed his friend.

The girl I met is almost perfect

Q: I met a real knockout at the grocery store and asked her out. She said she worked most nights, so we did lunch and a movie matinee. Then she had to go home to get ready for work. When I asked what she did, she told me she was an exotic dancer. I was heartbroken. I told her I didn't think I could date a stripper. She said that made her sad but she understood. Well, a couple of weeks have passed, and I can't stop thinking about her. Do

How can I motivate my hubby?

LETTER OF THE WEEK

Q: My husband lost his advertising job six months ago. While he has decades of experience, at age 58 he hasn't found a new job and has pretty much given up. Now, he spends most of his time watching TV and surfing the Internet. Since we can't survive on my income alone, his mother helps support us. I wouldn't care about his "early retirement," except that he's grown moody, lazy and overweight. I believe these are symptoms of somebody with no purpose or goals in life. It's a stark contrast from the energetic, creative go-getter he used to be. When I talk to him about it, we always end up in a fight. Got any suggestions for me?

- F.T., NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y.

A: Reinventing yourself is tough at any age. The job market today favors the young, who are often willing to work for less money and benefits. Try to get your husband to use his many years of experience to do some consulting. If he's not interested in that, maybe he could try something new. Many folks at retirement age are starting new careers. I'm still working at age 82, so it can be done.

A few words for...Brian Williams

NEWS reporters shouldn't become the news. NBC Nightly News anchor Brian Williams made headlines around the world after he exaggerated claims of his wartime heroics. Forced to make an apology, Brian took responsibility for his actions and NBC suspended him for six months.

Many doubt that he will return. In recent years, the lines between news, opinion and celebrity have been blurred, so trust has become more important than ever for a network news anchor. By stretching the truth, Brian has lost the one thing no serious journalist can afford to lose, his credibility. Now, he'll have some time away from the spotlight to reflect on the next chapter in his life. Maybe he can write a book about the experience that will help him regain the public's trust. Or he may want to reinvent himself by taking on some other role, perhaps even applying to be Jon Stewart's replacement on The Daily Show.

Family sleeping arrangements have me stumped

Q: My two grandsons have arranged to visit me soon and they asked if they could bring their girlfriends. I don't mind. In fact, I'd love to meet the young ladies. However, I'm concerned about the sleeping arrangements.

Maybe I'm old fashioned, but I can't condone people sleeping together when they're not married or at least engaged. My son, their father, told me I'm being ridiculous and need to join the 21st century. He also said they may prefer to stay in a hotel, which I don't want because I'll see less of them. Do you think it's asking too much to request that the boys bunk together in one bedroom while the girls bunk together in the other for a few days?

- A.R., HOLLYWOOD, FLA.

A: Florida has lovely hotels. If you're really uncomfortable, help them choose a nice one near your home. Don't invite them to stay with you if you're going to fret about who's doing what with whom. You have to choose between spending as much time as possible with them and maintaining your comfort zone. What's more important to you?

you think we may have a future despite her profession?

- D.W., TRENTON, N.J.

A: Strippers need love, too. If you can accept her occupation, you might have a nice relationship. Why not see where it leads you both before you rule it out? A little adventure might do you some good.

KIRK DOUGLAS plays powerful, strong heroes in his hit movies Spartacus, Paths of Glory and 20,000 Leagues Under the Sea. But at home, it's his beloved wife Anne who wears the pants! Last May, Hollywood's golden couple celebrated their Diamond Anniversary - 60 years of wedded bliss - and a large chunk of it has been spent in their beautiful $5 million Beverly Hills mansion.

Kirk purchased the 3,098-square-foot, three-bedroom, four-bathroom palace for a mere $430,000 in 1990. It was built in 1921 and remodeled in 1957. The 98-year-old screen legend filled his digs with treasures from his nearly 70 years in showbiz.

"But my wife is clearly the boss in the house and holds the reins firmly in hand," Kirk says, not entirely joking. "She also has total control over the money. She will not let me retire. Because of her, I must seek to do more films."

WHOA, MAMA!

Kelly Clarkson's carrying 30 pounds of new baby fat

WEIGHT-challenged singer Kelly Clarkson, 32, just can't seem to lose those 30 pounds she gained before giving birth to daughter River Rose in June 2014 - and fans are letting her know it!

"Omg Kelly Clarkson is so fat!" a poster noted on the Internet site Twitter.

But the People Like Us singer remains defiant, saying she's never had the body of a supermodel since before she won the first season of American Idol in 2002 (right). "So ain't nobody expecting that," says the 5-foot-3 star, who tips the scales at 178 pounds.

The LIST

The buzz from Hollywood, New York & around the GLOBE

> WHO'S HOT <

BETTY WHITE: The 93-year-old had a lingering lip lock with Hollywood's hottest hunk, Bradley Cooper, on the SNL 40th anniversary special.

Seniors sizzle!

PAUL McCARTNEY: The former Beatle is back at the top of the charts after 30 years with his new Kanye West-Rihanna collaboration, FourFiveSeconds. Feels like only Yesterday.

CINDY CRAWFORD: Kudos to the 48-year-old supermodel for taking in stride a leaked unretouched bikini photo that shows her flaws and all. Model of class.

> WHO'S NOT <

MADONNA: A radio station in Britain has dropped the 56-year-old from their playlist because she's "irrelevant and old." Out of the Groove.

MIKE SORRENTINO: The Situation, Jersey Shore's Ferrari-driving hunk, has had his Garden State tanning salon closed down due to unpaid bills. Fuhgeddaboudit!

DANIEL CRAIG: The 007 star gave in to a minor knee sprain, forcing James Bond producers to shoot the new movie around him until he feels fit. Wimp!

A FEMALE bishop with a secret scandalous past was hammered on booze and texting when she ran down a cyclist – then callously left him to die as she fled the scene, say cops.

The tragedy sparked additional outrage when it emerged the hit-and-run suspect, Bishop Heather Cook, had also been arrested in 2010 for DUI.

In that case, cops say the second highest ranking official in the Episcopal Diocese of Maryland was so inebriated she'd vomited on herself and cops canceled her roadside sobriety test due to fears the unsteady cleric would fall and hurt herself!

Cook, 58, escaped with a slap on the wrist back then, but this time a judge set her bond at $2.5 million. And State's Attorney Marilyn J. Mosby says she assured the victim's family "no one is above the law."

Sadly, no punishment will bring back father of two Thomas Palermo, a software engineer who also built custom bikes. The avid cyclist was riding through a quiet neighborhood in Baltimore, Md., on the sunny afternoon of Dec. 27, when Cook's 2001 green Subaru Forester veered into the bike lane and slammed into him, cops say.

Another cyclist, Moncure Lyon, who witnessed the crash, found the 41-year-old victim in a semi-fetal position with his head on the curb.

As other witnesses called 911 to report the "massive impact," Lyon, who was once badly injured by a hit-and-run driver, raced after the fleeing vehicle.

"I was determined not to let it get away because the man who hit me was never found," he says.

Cops say Lyon, 65, caught up with Cook at a traffic light near the scene. He says the windshield of her car was smashed in. But when the light turned green, she took off. He eventually lost her in a gated community where she lives.

Cook returned to the scene of the accident about 30 minutes later and was arrested. Meanwhile, Palermo died of his injuries at the hospital.

"Tom was a passionate bicycle builder, a father and a friend to many people who ride bicycles in Baltimore," says a statement from the local cycling advocacy group Bikemore.

People who saw photos of Cook's smashed windshield, which cops say was caused by the impact of Palermo's body, questioned why she didn't stop.

"There's no way you could not know you'd hit somebody," says Katie Gore, who placed flowers at a roadside memorial.

Lora Peters adds, "He was alive after it happened. She might have been able to help or call for help if she'd stayed on the scene."

Cops say Cook had a blood alcohol level of .22, nearly triple the limit in Maryland. She was slapped with multiple charges, including manslaughter, DUI, texting while driving and leaving the scene of an accident. If convicted, she could be sentenced to more than 20 years behind bars.

A defense attorney asked Judge Nicole Pastore Klein to lower bail, but she denied the request saying the allegations suggested "a reckless indifference to life."

A friend helped Cook make bail. Conditions of her release forbid her from driving.

Critics say the tragedy may have been avoided had Cook not been let off so easily in her 2010 DUI case. A police report obtained by GLOBE shows Deputy Justin Reiblye stopped her in Preston, Md., at 2 a.m. on Sept. 10 for driving on the shoulder with one of her front tires shredded.

He noticed a strong smell of alcohol. Cook had vomit on her shirt. He adds a pouch containing two marijuana baggies, a bottle of wine and a nearly empty bottle of Irish whiskey were in plain view on the passenger seat.

Cook registered .27 on a breathalyzer. Reiblye adds the bishop "admitted to smoking the marijuana and drinking the alcohol while driving from Canada."

After Cook promised the judge she'd learned her lesson, he let her off with one year's supervised probation and an $800 fine, with $500 of it suspended.

"Everybody makes mistakes, and the smart people are the ones that learn from them," Judge John. E. Nunn III told her.

But Cook's bingeing continued, even after she was unanimously selected as the diocese's first female bishop last May, sources reveal. And following the latest arrest, church leaders revealed they knew Cook's drinking problem was ongoing. She was put on administrative leave while undergoing treatment in rehab, but former Episcopal Maryland bishop, the Rt. Rev. Robert W. Ihloff, and diocese officials are calling for her head.

Says Ihloff, "I think there's no future for her in the life of the Episcopal Church as a bishop."

TV CONFESSION BITES BIGMOUTH FAT CAT!

MOUTHY millionaire Robert Durst opened his trap about his wife's mysterious 1982 disappearance in a documentary, and now investigators are turning up the heat in the cold case.

"I am complicit" in wife Kathie "not being here," Durst, 71, confesses in the second episode of the six-part HBO miniseries, The Jinx: The Life and Deaths of Robert Durst.

That prompted investigator Joseph Becerra to declare, "We are watching the show very carefully for any useful information that is said in that documentary."

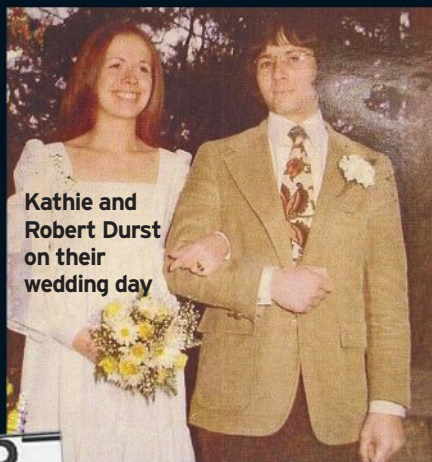

At the time Kathie vanished, Durst claimed he last saw his 29-year-old wife when he put her on a train heading from the family's South Salem, N.Y., vacation cottage to Manhattan. He also said he called her after she arrived at their Upper East Side apartment.

'Feeling of danger'

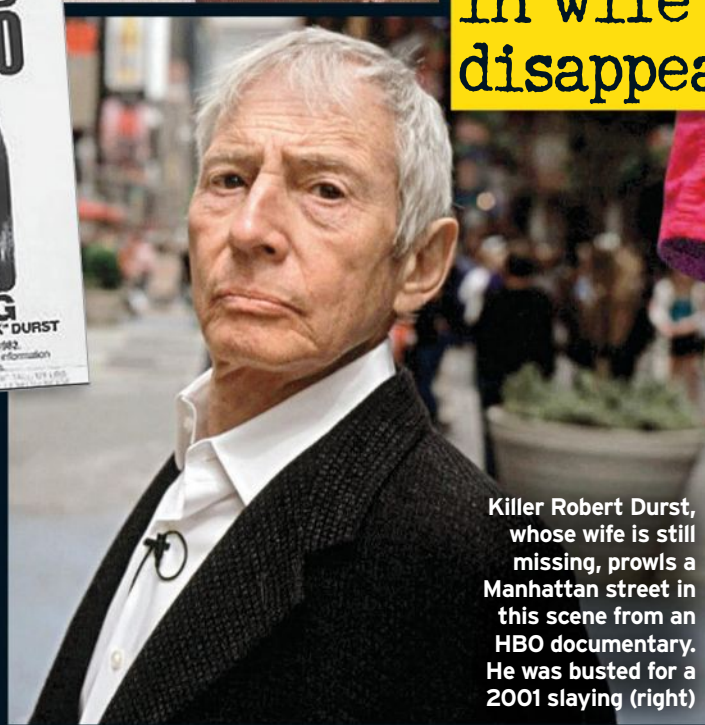

But in the documentary, he admits he lied about having a drink with a neighbor after sending Kathie on her way – as well as talking to her later by phone.

"He gets off on the feeling of danger," says documentary filmmaker Andrew Jarecki, who says Durst "wants that feeling again of being on the run from the police."

Kathie's case was closed after Durst stopped cooperating with authorities, but lawmen reopened it in 2000. Durst went on the lam, moving from New York to Galveston, Texas, where he rented a shabby $300-a-month apartment and posed as a mute woman named Dorothy Ciner.

Kathie and Robert Durst on their wedding day

Killer Robert Durst, whose wife is still missing, prowls a Manhattan street in this scene from an HBO documentary. He was busted for a 2001 slaying (right)

Cold case cops target mogul who told HBO he's 'complicit' in wife's disappearance

When cops announced they were going to interview Durst's onetime spokeswoman, Susan Berman, about Kathie's disappearance, she was killed execution-style in her California home.

Although Durst was considered a suspect in that case, he was never charged. However, back in Galveston, he shot to death his grumpy 71-year-old neighbor, Morris Black, then chopped up the body and dumped the remains in the bay.

He was arrested but jumped bail and was nabbed after he was caught shoplifting in a Pennsylvania supermarket. Incredibly, his $2 million defense team convinced a jury Durst had acted in self-defense in killing Black. But he was convicted of bail jumping and evidence tampering, sentenced to five years and paroled in 2004.

Meanwhile, Durst – whose fortune comes through a trust set up by his real estate tycoon father, Seymour – has terrorized others in his privileged family. Police say 13 relatives have protection orders against him.

"Bob is incapable of telling the truth," blasts his brother, Douglas. "He is a true psychopath."

Another brother, Tom, adds, "Kathie Durst knew a lot about Robert's finances, and she ended up dead. Susan Berman knew too much – she turned up dead. And Morris Black probably knew too much."

"He'll kill again. I have no doubt. The only question is: 'Who's next?'"

MAN UP, BRUCE!

Demands for sex-swap Jenner to come clean about fatal car wreck

This dramatic photo sequence catches Jenner's black SUV closing in on a white Lexus, smashing into the trunk and the aftermath, which left the Lexus' driver dead after the vehicle was pushed into oncoming traffic and rammed in the front

WITH a bombshell video revealing new details about Bruce Jenner's deadly car crash, a top legal expert is demanding the reality star quit stonewalling investigators.

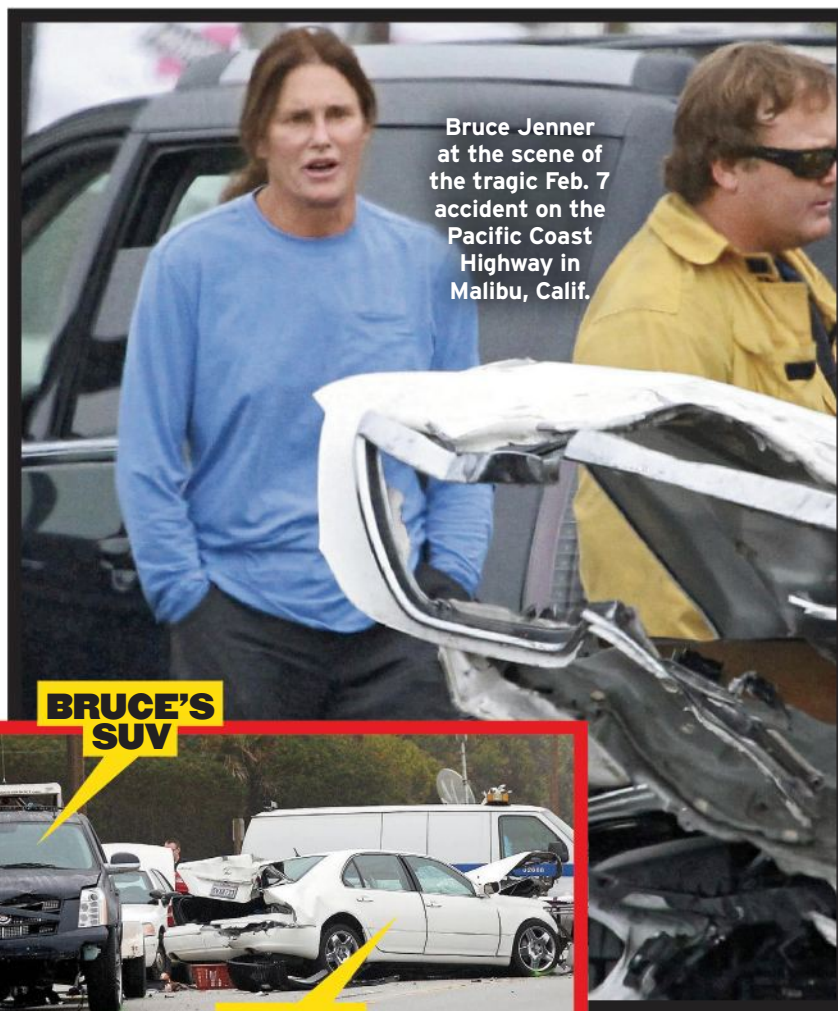

The former Olympic hero reportedly turned down the authorities' latest request for an interview, sparking former Boston prosecutor Wendy Murphy to declare, "It's time for Bruce Jenner to 'man up' and come clean about what really happened in the moments leading up to this fatal crash."

Jenner, 65, who is transforming himself into a woman, was hauling a trailer with an off-road vehicle behind his Cadillac Escalade on Feb. 7 when he suddenly veered to avoid vehicles slowing down for a traffic light on the Pacific Coast Highway in Malibu, Calif., say cops.

Felony

He plowed into a Lexus driven by a 69-year-old woman, Kim Howe, sending it careening into oncoming traffic, the cops add. The Lexus was then struck head-on by a Hummer, killing Howe.

In a sensational twist, a Los Angeles Sheriff's Department official revealed on Feb. 18 law enforcement officials had obtained footage of the accident from a camera mounted on a public bus. Sources say it provides damning evidence that disputes sex-swap Jenner's recollection and could lead to him being slapped with a felony – and crash, which also left seven injured, Jenner took a field sobriety test and submitted a blood sample. Investigators also sought cell phone records to see if any of the drivers involved were distracted.

Bruce Jenner at the scene of the tragic Feb. 7 accident on the Pacific Coast Highway in Malibu, Calif.

BRUCE'S SUV

Jenner's publicist, Alan Nierob, insists the star is cooperating with investigators. But the Web site RadarOnline is now reporting Jenner had "drawn a line in the sand and turned down the authorities' latest request for an interview."

Instead, he was "hunkering down and not talking to anyone except for his attorney." The Web site also reported Jenner "is just in a total daze" over facing potential manslaughter charges.

"Bruce's best move is NOT to clam up and hide behind his lawyer, but to do what he originally said he'd do and FULLY COOPERATE," says Murphy, the best-selling author of And Justice For Some.

"Bruce was apparently not impaired by drugs or alcohol. Now, cops are evaluating whether he was distracted by a cell phone call or text when he hit the Lexus."

"Owning up to any possible mistake would help mitigate his legal and possible criminal situation."

Meanwhile, it's being reported Jenner has decided to press ahead with plans for a sex change.

"Bruce has a lot on his plate now with his gender reassignment and a new reality TV series," Murphy tells GLOBE. "It's understandable that he could have caused this accident. But his attorney needs to let Bruce be the hero we all expect him to be and allow him fess up."

YOU'RE NEVER TOO OLD TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE!

AT age 60, Kevin Costner's career is in overdrive!

With three movies behind him in 2014, he's already on his second this year, the sports drama McFarland, in which he plays a job-hopping teacher who settles down in California's Central Valley and molds athletes into champions.

The Dances with Wolves hunk has been married to second wife Christine Baumgartner, 40, for 10 years. They have three children, Cayden, 7, Hayes, 6, and Grace, 4. He also has three children with first wife, Cindy – Anne, 30, Lily, 28, and Joe, 27 – and son, Liam, 18, with ex galpal Bridget Rooney.

In this interview with a freelance journalist, Costner talks about second chances, perseverance and fear.

Q: Where do you find the energy for all you have on your schedule?

A: I feel rejuvenated, reenergized. In my heart I feel as if I am 20 years old. I am doing projects I really want to do. My heart is in it, and it doesn't feel like work to me.

THE BIG INTERVIEW

KEVIN COSTNER

Kevin stars with Carlos Pratts in McFarland, USA

Q: Success came to you a little later in life when you already had two kids. Do you think that was an advantage?

A: Absolutely it was. I worked in construction. I know what it's like to feel the sweat running down your neck. I know that life can be a lot harder.

Q: What is the biggest lesson you teach your children?

A: If you treat something or someone importantly, chances are people will treat you importantly. That's a good lesson. It worked well for me.

Q: Your life hasn't always been smooth and happy. Do you think losses can be turned into good life lessons?

A: No question about it. I've always grabbed life to the fullest, and life has taken some of that back. You make mistakes, you learn to deal and you try to turn it into a good lesson and not make the same mistake again.

Q: The stories you tell these days revolve around hope, second chances and to never give up. How much of that is Kevin Costner?

A: All of it. You can suffer a crushing defeat, you can be beaten down, you can be rejected, but you can never give up. Something good will happen if you just keep going. I've always lived my life that way, and it's served me pretty good so far.

Q: Do you feel you still have something to say at 60?

A: Absolutely. I think my generation has a great chance to still take a stand, to address the world and leave your mark. Age is just a number. It's what you do with your life – no matter at what stage – that really matters. You can go out with a bang if you like.

Q: Does it bother you to get older?

A: No, it doesn't bother me. I try to spend quality time with the people I love because I don't take time for granted anymore.

Q: You grew up in Compton, the crime-ridden part of L.A. How did that help your life turn out the way it did?

A: It made me who I am today. I was always ambitious, and I always wanted to achieve great things in life. I never allowed anything to limit my dreams and my abilities.

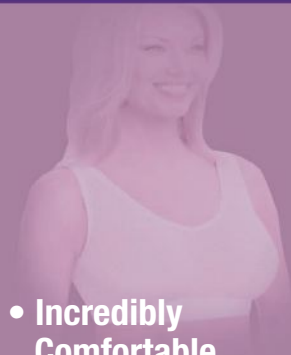

Q: What motivates you today?

A: Fear motivates me a lot. I am more aware when fearful, I am more present. I feel I step up to the plate. I don't ever want to get too comfortable.

ANNA NICOLE AUTOP

Chilling images of beloved blonde on e

THE family of the late Anna Nicole Smith is being ripped apart by a bitter feud over shocking autopsy photos of the blonde bombshell's corpse lying on a cold morgue slab.

Insiders claim members of the tragic beauty's family and her close friends want the government to destroy chilling pictures taken during the examination to determine her exact cause of death.

Some people who were close to the reality TV diva fear the images may turn up on the Internet and be seen by her only child, daughter Dannielynn, now 8.

But Anna Nicole's ailing mom, Virgie Arthur, insists the autopsy photos are valuable evidence in the former pinup's death. She wants the pictures preserved.

Virgie is now battling multiple myeloma, an incurable cancer that affects blood cells in the bone marrow. She says the photos should be available to Dannielynn if she wants to analyze them when she's an adult. Adds Virgie, the pictures could help Dannielynn learn what really happened to her mom.

Autopsy report

Anna died of an accidental drug overdose at age 39 in a Hollywood, Fla., casino-resort on Feb. 8, 2007.

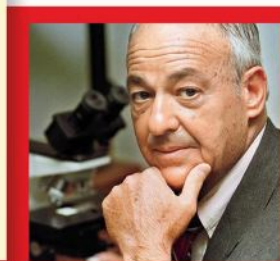

According to the autopsy report, the one-time Playboy playmate was killed by a concoction of nine prescription drugs including Valium, Ativan, Soma and the sleep aid chloral hydrate. She was also using other pain killers like methadone and muscle relaxants.

A 63-year-old former Texas cop, Virgie insists Anna's death, officially ruled as an accidental drug overdose, was really caused by foul play. She has been forbidden to see her granddaughter by Dannielynn's dad, Larry Birkhead.

GLOBE

Paramedics rush Anna Nicole to the hospital. Dr. Cyril Wecht insists that the autopsy photos must be kept secure

"The truth needs to be found out and I don't think the answer is to destroy the pictures," she says.

"They should be kept in a secure place where no one can see them. Then one day when Dannielynn is an adult – and if she asks to see them – she should be allowed to do so."

Famed medical examiner Cyril H. Wecht, who is also a lawyer agrees, saying, "Photos remain in the files and should not be destroyed, in case any legal ramifications crop up.

"Official photos are graphic but essential for the autopsy doctor to study and evaluate the cause and manner of death. Photos are also a tool for any court case that ensues, and the doctor will show them to jury members to illustrate a wound or anomaly."

Wecht says the official pictures show Anna with her scalp pulled down, her skull sawed open and her brain being removed. The photos also bare the "Y" incision in her chest and organs removed for weighing and study.

And marks on Anna Nicole's body, like a "deep-seated abscess on her left buttock where she had regularly injected herself with human growth hormone," are also exposed in the images, says the author of Final Exams.

Anna's autopsy photos are currently held at Florida's Broward County Medical Examiner's Office.

But there are fears they could be stolen, sold for big bucks and later surface on the Internet.

DRAMATIC RE-ENACTMENT

Gorgeous Anna Nicole
Smith and a re-creation of

An insider notes security at the facility has been lax in the past.

In 2012, it was revealed thousands of dollars and 3,600 prescription pain pills belonging to dead people disappeared from the coroner's property room over several years, the insider says. The state inspector blamed top staff members and some lost their jobs.

Wecht says the problems prove coroners offices need to have "high standards and top security."

Meanwhile, insiders close to Anna's family DON'T want little Dannielynn to ever see the shocking photos. But Virgie insists "the pictures will be a powerful warning to the little girl that if you take drugs, if you live a life of booze and addiction this is how you can end up - on the coroner's slab," says a family source.

"But other family members say it's too harsh a truth for a child to deal with. It's bad enough to lose a parent at a tender age.

"But to be shown her sliced up on the mortuary table is a horror. They think the images will haunt Anna Nicole's daughter for the rest of her life.

"They don't want these photos going on the Internet or being seen anywhere. They say burn them all."

Divorce papers exposed after 44 years!

LENNON'S VICIOUS SECRET LIFE

John and second wife Yoko got hitched in 1969

Beatle smacked son Julian and slept with Yoko in wife's bed

BEATLES legend John Lennon sang about peace and love, but in real life he was a moody boozier and pothead who cheated on his wife, Cynthia, and often slapped around their son, Julian.

"Dad was a hypocrite," says Lennon's son Julian, now 52.

"He could talk about peace and love to the world, but he could never show it to his wife and son."

Julian's charge is being bolstered by a shocking five-page legal document drawn up by Cynthia's divorce lawyers that recently surfaced 44 years after the bust-up.

Set to go on auction, the papers reveal Dorothy Jarlett's recollections of her years as the Lennon's nanny-housekeeper. She worked for the couple from 1964 to 1968. The papers were found among her belongings after she died last year.

Jarlett shockingly reveals she once caught John romping with Yoko Ono in Cynthia's bed, and on another occasion, Lennon's wife caught the pair together practically naked. The housekeeper also reveals Lennon was a crummy father, who was rarely at home and resorted to beating Julian when he was.

"Mr. Lennon would say Mrs. Lennon was too soft with him," Jarlett says in the document.

"I think that he was probably not enough with his son owing to his profession to know how to handle him."

"As a result, he would often smack him."

Cynthia suspected Lennon had been bedding other women, and her friends told her he'd been cheating all the way back to when they were students at the Liverpool College of Art.

The pair wed in 1962 when she was 22 and pregnant with Julian. Lennon settled her in a 22-bedroom home in Weybridge that cost $60,000 in 1964.

Just four years after the wedding, a booze-fueled Lennon admitted to Cynthia that he was sleeping with other gals. He then shipped her off for a vacation in Greece. When she returned, she walked in on Lennon and Yoko Ono sitting on the floor facing each other—wearing just bathrobes.

POLICE MUG SHOT

FORMER Buffy the Vampire Slayer co-star Nicholas Brendon was busted in Florida and accused of trashing a hotel room in a drunken rampage then refusing to pay for it!

Now 43, Brendon, who played best friend Xander Harris to Sarah Michelle Gellar's Buffy, was in Fort Lauderdale for the Shock Pop Comic Con when he was arrested on criminal mischief and felony grand theft charges Feb. 16. He spent a night in the Broward County Jail.

Just days after announcing the breakup of his four-month marriage to actress Moonda Tee, cops say a drunk Brendon tore up the hotel room, causing $450 worth of damage and running up a $380 food and beverage bill.

When he refused to pay both debts, lawmen slapped him in cuffs.

Brendon was also arrested in mid-October for drunken and destructive behavior at a Boise, Idaho, hotel before a Comic-Con event. "Brendon is battling a disease many of us don't understand," says the actor's representative. "He's sorry for his actions and takes what happened very seriously."

SANDRA'S BIG MAC ATTACK!

IT looks like Sandra Bullock caught more than strands of beads during New Orleans' Mardi Gras!

The actress paraded her fondness for comedy actor Michael McDonald during the recent festivities in the Big Easy.

It's a change of pace for Bullock, who's mostly hooked up with macho guys. The Oscar-winner was married to reality-TV biker Jesse James and has been linked to screen hunks Matthew McConaughey and Ryan Gosling as well as pro football superstar Troy Aikman. Amazingly, McDonald's mannerisms have sparked rumors he's gay!

Fueling the talk, 50-year-old McDonald has never been married. Furthermore, he's refused to discuss his sexuality in public other to say that he doesn't mind if people think he's gay.

The actress with her cheating ex Jesse James

Bullock gets cozy with The Heat hunk Michael McDonald

But the couple may have killed those rumors for good in New Orleans. "Michael wrapped his arms around Sandra, and she obviously loved it, because she had her hand on his," an eyewitness tells GLOBE. "Also, he was seen with his arm protectively across her back."

Meanwhile, the only man in Sandra's life since she divorced serial cheater James in 2010 has been her adopted son Louis, who's now 5. And sources reveal the 50-year-old cutie has no problem being a single mom.

"Sandra says if a man came along in her life who she really loves, that would be a blessing but only icing on the cake," notes a friend.

Now after her display of affection with McDonald, people are wondering if she's finally met her match. One thing they share is a good sense of humor. Sandra is known for her quick wit. McDonald broke into showbiz doing improv comedy at L.A.'s famed Groundling Theater.

Sandra and Michael were looking like a couple during Mardi Gras in New Orleans

He went on to star on FOX network's MADtv, did a Showtime comedy special and, most notably, appeared with Sandra in the 2013 big screen comedy The Heat.

Now, the eyewitness in New Orleans says the couple were making no secret of their mutual admiration during the rowdy celebration.

"It was obvious they both enjoyed cuddling at the parade, where they caught beads and had a drink," says the source. "Sandra was all smiles as he held onto her tight."

"It looks like things have gotten serious between them. They're both single, but they definitely looked like an item."

VICIOUS FIGHT FOR BANKS' FORTUNE!

CHICAGO CUBS legend Ernie Banks died nearly a month ago, but the battle over his fortune is going extra innings! His family is accusing his lounge singer caretaker of taking advantage the jocks deteriorating health to cut them out of the will!

The baseball great's relatives claim Regina Rice, a 56-year-old songbird and talent manager, persuaded the ailing Hall of Famer to give her control of his health care and sign a will that left her everything. Rice says she's a "trusted

Mr. Cub died at 83, supposedly cutting his kids out of his will confidant" who'd assisted Banks with his personal and business affairs for over a decade.

Ernie, known as Mr. Cub, died Jan. 23 at age 83. Control of his estate had initially been awarded to his estranged wife Liz, who went to probate court Jan. 28 claiming he'd died without a will.

But four days later, Rice filed a petition disclosing for the first time the existence of a will specifically disinheriting his twin sons, daughter and wife "for reasons known to them."

DEADLY NEW EPIDEMIC ATTACKS CHUBBY PEOPLE!

AMERICANS are being hit by a deadly national health crisis – and most people don't even know they're at risk!

You may never have heard of nonalcoholic fatty liver disease (NAFLD), but it's already affecting 20 percent of adults – and experts believe it will become the largest cause of long-term disability in the U.S.

Fatty deposits

"It's growing hand-in-hand with our nation's obesity and diabetes epidemic," Dr. Paul J. Gaglio, medical director at Montefiore Medical Center in Bronx, N.Y., tells GLOBE. "It is the accumulation of fatty deposits in the liver that is not caused solely by alcohol consumption."

Just decades ago, NAFLD was so rare, many doctors never saw a case of it. But over the past 20 years, the incidence has skyrocketed.

There are two types of the ailment. One is less serious and causes few symptoms, although it puts patients at high risk for heart disease and diabetes.

But the other, called nonalcoholic steatohepatitis, can progress into deadly cirrhosis, which can cause the liver to fail. The only hope for a patient at this point is a liver transplant, says Gaglio.

Although NAFLD is usually "silent" without symptoms, sometimes fatigue, weight loss, loss of appetite, weakness or nausea may occur. It is often detected by routine blood tests and confirmed with an ultrasound.

Risk factors

Dr. David Vastola, a leading internist and gastroenterologist from Florida and host of the upcoming TV show Good Health Hunting, tells GLOBE NAFLD also increases the risk of developing liver cancer.

"The best prevention and treatment is to lose weight and get your diabetes, high cholesterol and high blood pressure under control," he says.

"There are currently no medications to treat fatty liver disease, so losing weight and controlling risk factors is the best way to go.

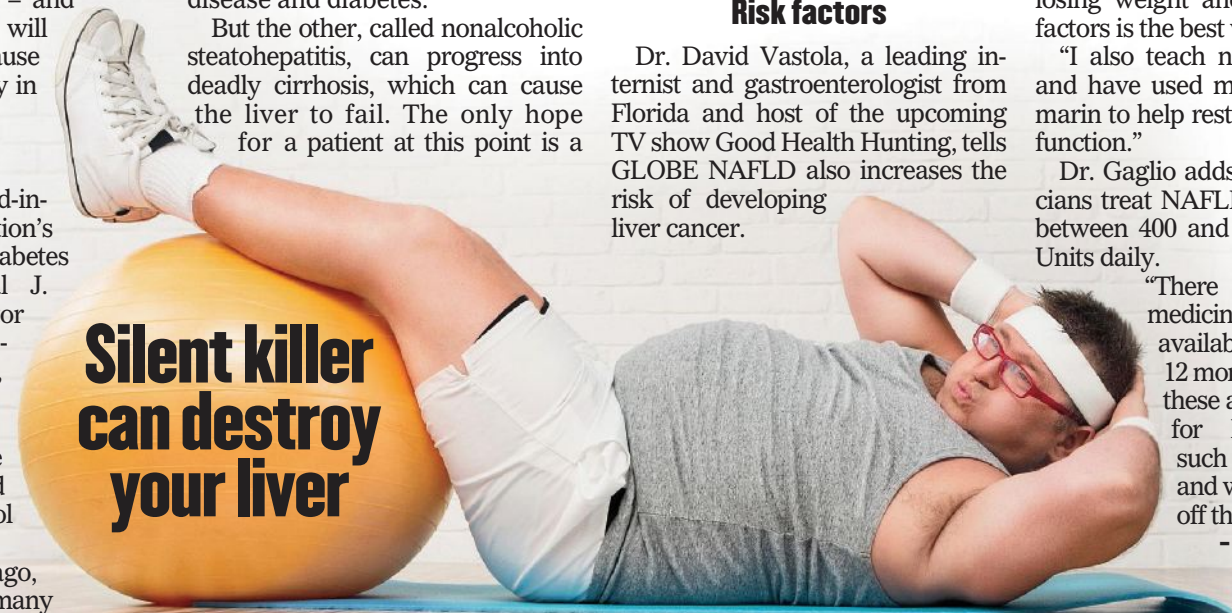

"I also teach nutritional therapy and have used milk thistle or silymarin to help restore optimum liver function."

Dr. Gaglio adds that some physicians treat NAFLD with vitamin E, between 400 and 800 International Units daily.

"There are several new medicines that should be available in the next six to 12 months," he says. "But these are not a substitute for lifestyle changes such as exercise, diet and weight loss to ward off this potential killer."

White bread is packed with hemicellulose and resistant starch that boost the spread of Lactobacillus, a bacterium with health benefits from reducing fever symptoms to warding off diseases like salmonella, according to the study from Spain's University of Oviedo.

Laughing gas beats the blues

✚NITROUS OXIDE can be used as an effective and fast-acting treatment for severe depression in patients who haven't responded to drugs and other standard therapies, a new study shows. Better known as laughing gas and often used to sedate dental patients, the nitrous oxide greatly improved symptoms in people with the blues compared to those who received a placebo, say scientists at Washington University.

MS stem cell Breakthrough

✚AN INNOVATIVE new treatment uses high-dose drug therapy followed by a stem cell transplant to help multiple sclerosis (MS) patients battle the disease. A progressive, degenerative ailment, MS affects up to 350,000 Americans. Researchers at Presbyterian/St. Luke's Medical Center in Denver say after giving volunteers the new treatment, 91 percent had no progression, 86 percent were relapse free and 78.4 percent were MS free – with no side effects!

Taking a light approach to all your affairs will get you further now, especially in romance. The weekend brings a chance to indulge your creative side.

LEO July 23 - August 23

A recent cash crisis is resolved when extra dollars arrive!

LIBRA September 23 - October 23

Although you're dragging a bit physically, your mental energy is at a peak. CANCER June 22 - July 22

Even if you're reluctant to rock the proverbial boat, make waves and stir up some action in the situation that's got you so down in the dumps at work or home. You'll be happy you finally spoke up! Go shopping for needed household items and clothing this weekend, when you'll find bargains galore at rock-bottom prices!

VIRGO August 24 - September 22

Lately you've been worrying about your appearance. A trustworthy friend steers you toward a new look and takes you clothes shopping. Leave no stone unturned as you search for bargains, but be careful Saturday - your judgment could be clouded. A relationship could move to the next level this weekend - are you ready to say yes?

SCORPIO October 24 - November 22

All that ease and lightness you're feeling is likely to continue, and it's making you so attractive to others, you're drawing people to your side like bees to honey! When a potential partner asks you out, say yes. And if you're hoping to land a new job, put in your application on Tuesday, when Jupiter aligns with Mars for power. The number 7 is lucky!

CAPRICORN December 22 - January 20

Keep an open heart and an open mind this week when you meet a stranger - this could be your soul mate! Check prices twice Wednesday, when mistakes are likely. You're tired of always being the responsible one, and will be thrilled when Friday brings a chance to play hooky from your duties and enjoy some carefree fun.

PISCES February 19 - March 20

Life is not a competition, Fish. Working together to build something wonderful is your path to success, and the cosmos brings you both the people and ideas you need to do just that! VAN WINKLE ICED ON BURGLARY RAP!

COPS put home improvement reality show star Robert Van Winkle on ice, ice, baby after busting the entertainer - better known by his rapper stage name, Vanilla Ice - on burglary charges.

Lawmen in Lantana, Fla., say Van Winkle removed furniture, a pool heater, bicycles and other items from an abandoned home near a house he's renovating for his DIY TV series The Vanilla Ice Project.

The owner tipped off police, who obtained a search warrant, recovered the items and arrested the rapper. Van Winkle spent a night in the Palm Beach County Jail and was released on $6,000 bail. He insisted it's a "misunderstanding" that's been "blown out of proportion."

The rapper, 47, has had other run-ins with the law. He was busted in January 2001 for assaulting wife Laura, pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct and was sentenced to probation and family therapy. Charges were dropped following an April 2008 incident where Van Winkle allegedly hit and kicked Laura during an argument over a bedroom set. A DIY spokesman says the network is "looking into the current matter."

FAREWELL LESLEY GORE!

Sixties pop princess lived & died in her own private world

FOR decades, iconic songbird Lesley Gore hid her private pain from the world. First, she covered up her lesbianism - then the terrible lung cancer that took her life at age 68.

As a result, fans of the sensational sixties singer were stunned to learn Lesley died on Feb. 16 at New York University Langone Medical Center in Manhattan.

Gore's death was revealed by her grief-stricken gay partner of 33 years, jewelry designer Lois Sasson. She said, "Lesley was a wonderful human being - caring, giving, a great feminist, great woman, great human being, great humanitarian."

At age 16, Gore rocketed to fame when her tune It's My Party spent two weeks at No. 1 on Billboard's Hot 100 chart. The high school junior followed with smashes including Judy's Turn to Cry and California Nights.

But she knew looking to make a life in showbiz was too much of a gamble. So Gore attended all-female Sarah Lawrence College in Bronxville, N.Y., majoring in English and American literature while continuing to record and perform.

"The record company wasn't thrilled, my agent wasn't thrilled, but I sensed very early just how fickle this business is," Gore once said. "I had a good brain in my head, and I saw it was an opportunity to cloister myself."

Although she had boyfriends and once came close to getting married, Gore said she had a sexual awakening in her 20s and realized she was gay. But she kept her sexual preference hidden, saying the music industry had "very little acceptance of gay people" and was "totally homophobic."

Known for helping gay and lesbian causes, Lesley never revealed her terminal cancer to fans

A year before coming out of the closet in 2005, Gore began hosting the PBS TV series In the Life, which focused on gender identity issues. She was inspired to take the job "as a result of meeting a lot of young gay people in the Midwest who really had nothing to relate to. I felt this program was presenting them with some options."

Certainly, Lesley had a history of promoting a more liberal sexual agenda. She was considered a giant in the feminist movement. Her 1960s hit You Don't Own Me has been hailed as promoting women's lib.

"I could see why people used it as a feminist anthem," said Gore, who performed into her 60s. "Whether you're 16 or 116, there's nothing more wonderful than standing on the stage, shaking your finger and singing, 'Don't tell me what to do.'"

"Wall Street Analysts Praise New Breakthrough"

New Fat-Melting Pill Could Put Diet Industry Out of Business by 2016

Special Report by Health & Fitness Editor
Steve Engerson

NEW YORK —

You know what they say; if it sounds too good to be true, it probably is! That is, until recently when a small Colorado nutraceutical company developed the unbelievable... a new pill, that lets you drop dramatic amounts of weight — apparently without much effort at all!

Meet the Pill that Disintegrates Fat Cells ...While You Sit Still.

Shred360™ originally shook up the fitness industry because of the way it DOUBLES your fat-burning potential and made fitness models "camera ready" in dramatically less time.

Shred360™ allows ANYONE, not just fitness professionals, to LOSE INTENSE AMOUNTS OF FAT — without grueling workouts or tasteless diet foods. It works by first breaking apart, then disintegrating your stubborn fat cells — so you drop pounds and inches even while you SLEEP! And best of all, Shred360™ was just released to the general public. That means you can experience unprecedented weight loss too.

Two Servings Replace Hours of Grueling Workouts. ACCELERATE the Speed of Your Metabolism by up to an Astounding 43%!

By creating a "Sedentary Cellular Workout" (nearly doubling the speed of your metabolism) Shred360™'s formula actually fools your body into thinking that you are lifting weights and running hard... increasing your metabolic rate by 43% and BURNING FAT FAST...

SIXTEEN Highly Refined Ingredients
Vaporize Fat Without Effort
Unlike Anything Ever Released!

Shred360™ is VERY Different from anything you've seen. Its proprietary blend of SIXTEEN potent ingredients, are Scientifically PROVEN to:

- Evaporate Fat by Speeding Your Metabolism by an Astonishing 43%
- Fool your body into burning carbs as energy — NOT storing them as fat
- Fool your body into BURNING Stored FAT through Thermogenesis and lipolysis
- Fool your body into feeling full — the ultimate appetite suppressant
- Enable your body to PRESERVE Lean, Healthy MUSCLE
- Increase energy and mental clarity almost immediately — guaranteed

And unlike highly ineffective, slickly marketed "diet supplements" (that are usually glorified caffeine pills) — Shred360™ (originally formulated for top athletes) will:

- NEVER make you jittery
- NEVER make your heart race
- NEVER leave you feeling hungry

Shred360™'s formula includes well documented Green Tea, Vitamins B6 & B12, Green Coffee and Raspberry Ketones, among others. Together, they are unconditionally guaranteed to make every surplus bit of your unwanted fat disappear - effortlessly - without starvation diets and painful exercise... while at the same time preserving the lean healthy muscle that your body needs.

Fitness Professionals Praise The Fat Burning Power of Shred360™

"Shred360™ Is the Best of the Best. In all my years of being a Fitness Professional, I've never recommended a fat-burner because almost all fat burners fall short... but I was so impressed with the science, the ingredients, AND the personal results of this product - I contacted the company directly to share my excitement." Shaun Hadsall — Fitness Trainer, creator of the "4-Cycle Fat Loss" system

Analysts Think Shred360™ Could put Jenny Craig and Weight Watchers Out of Business by 2018

Analysts (who have studied Shred360™'s ability to isolate, breakup and eliminate fat from the body) predict traditional weight loss companies will be obsolete in the next 4-years.

Let's be honest. For most of us, the absolute ease of losing fat with Shred360™ is much more important than the science of "how it works". As one Wall Street Investor put it, "By using Shred360™ - you can eat like a normal person, skip the gym, and lose the fat you want while you sleep — so who in their right mind would ever use a company like Jenny Craig or Weight Watchers? The answer, clearly, is no one."

No more tasteless "diet frozen meals", no more prepackaged "food", no more time consuming trips to the gym, and no more clubs to join - PLUS Shred360™ nearly doubles your metabolism and burns fat while you SLEEP — making it the most important breakthrough in weight loss history... and that has mainstream companies worried...

Produced Under Highly Controlled Environmental Conditions In Small Batches, So Supplies Are Very Limited

Shred360™ was originally developed for Top Fitness Professionals (a very small market) and was never meant to be the all-around fat burner that it, thankfully, turned out to be. Because of this, Shred360™ is produced under highly controlled conditions, in one of America's Top Certified Supplement manufacturing facilities, in very small batches... making supplies quite limited. This production method guarantees that Shred360™ is always pure, always safe, and always effective. Shred360™ truly is a "Professional Grade" supplement.

Special Opportunity for Our Readers — Small Sample of Shred360™ Made Available with No-Questions-Asked 365-Day Guarantee!

As the Health and Fitness Editor, I am happy to say that I have been able to reserve a limited supply of GUARANTEED TO WORK Shred360™ - for 100 of our readers (I wish it could have been more — but their supplies are very limited). All you have to do is call them directly at 1-800-418-6721 and request your limited supply plus additional FREE bottles (just ask).

You will see — stubborn unwanted fat will be eliminated from your body with absolute ease. But please don't wait to call... once these free samples are gone — they are gone for good.

THE SHRED360™ EFFECT: DESTROYS AND ELIMINATES FAT CELLS

It works by first breaking apart, then disintegrating your stubborn fat cells — so you drop pounds and inches even while sitting or even sleeping!

Cayenne Pepper Can Cure What?

It has been called the most powerful heart remedy known to medical science because of its amazing ability to stop a heart attack in just 30 seconds.

Famed physician and herbalist Dr. John Christopher reported: "In 35 years of medical practice I have never lost one heart attack patient." That's because when Dr. Christopher got there, he would immediately give his patients a precise dose of cayenne pepper...and within minutes they would be up and walking around.

A new book called Cayenne Cures is now available that tells you exactly how to use cayenne pepper to protect your heart and improve your health. It also reveals many other tested and proven home remedies you can make yourself that take advantage of the remarkable healing powers of cayenne.

Besides stopping a heart attack instantly, cayenne has been proven to cleanse clogged arteries, lower blood pressure, reduce cholesterol, normalize blood sugar levels, reduce triglycerides and dissolve the fibrin which causes the formation of blood clots. Cayenne also exhibits an amazing anti-inflammatory effect which greatly benefits people with arthritis and fibromyalgia. It is believed to act on Substance P, which is the body chemical involved with pain.

Cayenne Cures reveals medically proven methods for using cayenne pepper. It can be used by itself in precise doses... or in combination with other ingredients to heal numerous health problems. Each preparation is carefully described along with directions how to take it and the condition it is used for.

Doctors have verified that cayenne feeds your heart and has a profound energizing effect on your entire circulatory system. Cayenne quickly starts moving blood and equalizing blood pressure. It regulates the flow of blood from the head to the feet and influences the heart immediately. It's energizing effects eliminate fatigue and restore stamina and vigor.

Your own doctor will tell you that nearly every illness is associated with a restriction of blood flow in your body. Cayenne, used correctly, is uniquely effective for improving blood flow. It helps dissolve blockages and restrictions and stimulates blood flow so that vitamins, nutrients and oxygen are properly delivered to all areas of your body.

Contrary to popular opinion, cayenne does not burn the lining of your stomach. Instead, it has been shown to actually heal stomach ulcers and rebuild damaged tissue. It can also:

- Relieve arthritis pain and fibromyalgia
- Improve digestion
- Relieve constipation
- Improve allergies and asthma
- Relieve sore throats, colds and flu
- Heal infections
- Stop headache pain
- Flush out waste products and toxins
- Help wounds heal faster.

Research shows that cayenne pepper is so powerful that it kills bacteria, parasites and fungus...and it has even killed cancer cells in laboratory research. Yet it is so safe that it does not harm normal cells or tissues. It is easy to use, remarkably effective and costs just pennies.

Cayenne has worked virtual medical miracles for people with the most hopeless problems. Best-selling author Dick Quinn, who doctors left for dead after failed bypass surgery, actually regained his health and lived many more good years thanks to the healing power of cayenne pepper.

Dr. John Christopher also was told he did not have long to live. However, he enjoyed a long productive life after discovering how to use cayenne to cure himself of hardening of the arteries and arthritis. Cayenne cleansed his arteries so well that, after getting a physical exam for an insurance policy, he was told that his circulatory system resembled that of a teenager.

If you or someone you know have a heart or circulatory problem, the healing secrets revealed in Cayenne Cures can be truly lifesaving.

Right now, as part of a special introductory offer, you can order a special press run of Cayenne Cures for $12.95 plus $2.00 shipping. It comes with a 90 day money back guarantee. If you are not 100% satisfied, simply return it for a refund.

Order an extra copy for family or friend and SAVE. You can order 2 for only $20 total with free shipping.

HERE'S HOW TO ORDER: Simply PRINT your name and address and the words "Cayenne Cures" on a piece of paper and mail it along with a check or money order to: IMPROVEMENT PUBLISHING, LLC, Dept. PATTY HEARST'S RUFF NEW LIFE!

Hearst's pooch, Rocket, made the finals of the Westminster Kennel Club dog show

Bank robber heiress is dog show queen

PATTY HEARST has really gone to the dogs!

The heiress who'd been kidnapped by revolutionaries and caught on camera holding a machine gun during a bank heist, is once again making headlines – for having a pooch in the finals of the famed Westminster Kennel Club dog show.

“People move on,” says Hearst, 61. “I guess people somehow imagine you don’t evolve in your life. I have daughters and granddaughters and other things normal people have.”

She also has part ownership of Rocket, a shih tzu that won the toy dog category at New York’s Madison Square Garden and strutted his stuff during the Best in Show competition on Feb. 17. However, Rocket failed to soar in the finals. Even so, the daughter of newspaper magnate William Randolph Hearst was pleased by the pooch’s performance.

Patty has come a long way since she was abducted at age 19 by the Symbionese Liberation Army (SLA)

Then calling herself ‘Tania,’ the heiress announced her recruitment in front of the SLA symbol from her apartment in Berkeley, Calif., on Feb. 4, 1974.

She was locked blindfolded and bound in a closet for weeks. Two months later, the urban guerillas declared Hearst had joined them in their war against capitalism and released an iconic photo of her beret-clad figure menacingly holding an assault rifle in front of the SLA symbol.

Within weeks, surveillance video captured Hearst, who renamed herself “Tania,” taking part in a daring San Francisco bank robbery. Six SLA members, including its leader, were soon killed in a police shootout, and Hearst went on the lam until she was nabbed in September 1975.

At her sensational 1976 trial, jurors didn’t buy her claims that she’d been brainwashed by her captors. She was convicted and sentenced to seven years. But President Jimmy Carter commuted her sentence in 1979, and Hearst received a full pardon from President Bill Clinton in 2001.

Months after her release from prison, she married former cop Bernard Shaw, who died in 2013. Along with charitable work, Hearst has been involved in the dog show circuit for a decade, mostly working with French bulldogs.

Despite her love of dogs, her daughters own cats.

Jokes Hearst, “I don’t know what I did wrong.”

OLIVIER & LEIGH'S X-RATED LOVE NOTES

LAURENCE OLIVIER showed a flair for the erotic when penning steamy love letters to his mistress, Vivian Leigh!

“I woke up absolutely raging with desire for you,” Olivier writes in one missive, then details his blush-inducing yearnings.

In another, he confesses to “sitting naked,” adding, “My longing for you is so intense.”

The graphic passages were uncovered in a trove of some 200 letters the two film superstars exchanged starting in 1936, when Olivier was still married to Jill Esmund.

The correspondence, found in the archives of London’s Victoria and Albert Museum, also discuss how Leigh struggled with her role as Scarlett O’Hara in Gone with the Wind – and that they both thought the Oscar-winning epic was sure to be a flop.

The two eventually wed in 1940. After their divorce 20 years later, Olivier wrote, “You did nobly and bravely and beautifully.”

How to Get Away with Murder: Graphic gay sex

The Mindy Project: Frank talk about sexual positions

Scandal: Touchy-feely love scenes

NETWORKS TAP INTO XXX FACTOR

THE networks are steaming up the screen this season, breaking down the barriers of edgy sexual content on prime-time TV.

With FOX's New Girl, ABC's Scandal and How to Get Away with Murder leading the way, the nets are pushing the boundaries to compete with Showtime's Masters of Sex and HBO's Game of Thrones, which are flashing the flesh to win viewers.

The conservative TV watchdog group Parents Television Council is now pushing back by urging the Federal Communications Commission to force the networks to halt sultry scenes which are banned by censorship laws.

"Hopefully, the FCC will levy a fine or two and let broadcasters know that the law is still in place and they have to respect it," said the council's president Tim Winter.

How to Get Away with Murder, produced by Grey's Anatomy boss Shonda Rhimes, has shocked viewers with graphic gay sex, as well as sizzling love scenes involving lead actress Viola Davis and the show's young co-stars.

On New Girl, actress Zooey Deschanel constantly makes shocking sexual references. "We've given broadcast standards a run for their money," says producer Brett Bauer.

And on FOX's The Mindy Project, a sizzling conversation between the show's characters, played by Mindy Kaling and Chris Messina, involved talk about sexual positions which led to many fans looking them up on Google.

FOX's soapy new hit, Empire, has also had its share of torrid scenes, including a fling between Rhonda (Kaitlin Doubleday) and Andre (Trai Byers).

Scandal, also created by Rhimes, showed Olivia Pope (Kerry Washington) and Jake Ballard (Scott Foley) early this season having a "touchy-feely" love scene on a beach.

"Shonda writes amazing characters in compromising and amazing situations, and I think it worked," Foley says. "It got the fans talking about it."

Rhimes had said at the start of the season that she had "no intention" of cutting back on the sexual content after Scandal was moved to the earlier 9 p.m. family hour. "I look forward to being censored," she said.

Disney-owned ABC also angered the PTC last year by airing a Scandal love scene just moments after a Charlie Brown special.

"Such a transition is grossly irresponsible by the network and entirely unfair for parents," says Winter. "ABC owes families an apology."

TV FACT

On NBC's hit show The Blacklist, Hisham Tawfiq plays Raymond "Red" Reddington's right hand man, Dembe Zuma - but on his days off, Hisham's a real-life NYC firefighter.

HERO MILO TURNS VILLAIN

Milo
Ventimiglia

HEROES hunk Milo Ventimiglia is switching to the dark side and playing an evil monster on FOX's hit drama, Gotham.

The 37-year-old actor, who played sensitive Peter Petrelli on the sci-fi drama from 2006 to 2010 and starred on Gilmore Girls, will now have a recurring role in the Batman prequel. He will play Jason Lennon, a serial killer known as the Ogre.

Described as handsome, wealthy and seductive, Lennon has preyed on young women of Gotham for years, by luring them into his web and giving them a series of "tests" as he searches for his perfect mate.

When the women fail to live up to his impossible standard, he disposes of them quickly and viciously.

Ventimiglia, who first appears on Gotham in mid-March, has also just signed for the new ABC drama The Whispers, about innocent children being manipulated by an evil force intent on ruling the planet.

REBA REUNION ON BABY DADDY

and co-star
Reba

COUNTRY music pixie Reba McEntire is reuniting with her former Reba co-star Melissa Peterman for an episode of Baby Daddy.

McEntire, 59, starred for six seasons with Peterman on the WB sitcom before it was cancelled in 2007.

Peterman, 43, who's been playing Bonnie Wheeler on ABC Family's Baby Daddy since 2012, persuaded her old friend to guest star on an episode airing later this season.

Reba plays Wheeler's longtime friend, Charlotte, who she became close to after meeting on a maternity ward when they were both about to give birth. Since then, they've shared many meaningful moments in each other's lives.

But their friendship hits a troubled patch when Charlotte visits Bonnie in New York. It seems Charlotte's not the supportive friend everyone thought she was.

After Reba went off the air, McEntire signed up for Malibu Country in 2012, but that was yanked after just one season.

KATY'S KNEES GIVING OUT

WHEN Katy Perry decides to Roar these days, it's liable to be from the agony of her aching knees, which she blames from constantly performing at the highest physical level.

Only age 30, the singer of a string of smash hit songs like I Kissed a Girl!, California Gurls and Teenage Dream has to undergo regular acupuncture sessions on her joints just so she can keep dancing on stage and keep her legions of fans happy.

"My knees are giving out on me now," Katy reveals. "I do acupuncture every two or three days. I tour with a stage that goes from the front of the house to the back of the house with a triangle thrust that is a moving treadmill, like I think I'm some kind of Olympic athlete."

PAM BOUNCES BACK!

Pamela with then-hubby David Hasselhoff (left) needs crutches to walk following the dog attack

Pamela's wounds on her arm are visible as she lies in the healing hyperbaric chamber

Baywatch blonde GETS OXYGEN TREATMENT after dog bite horror

HORRIFICALLY mauled by three bulldogs, ex-Baywatch beauty Pamela Bach-Hasselhoff is healing quickly thanks to a unique treatment inside a pressurized oxygen chamber.

The 52-year-old blonde, who appeared on the lifeguard series along with ex-husband David Hasselhoff, suffered wounds on her legs, arms and thighs during a savage attack.

As GLOBE reported in our Feb. 23, 2015 edition, she says she was attacked by dogs at attorney Lee Arter's home in L.A.

The injuries required numerous

"What happened to me is unbelievable," says the actress, whose 17-year marriage ended in 2006.

"I came within an inch of losing my life. It's only by the grace of God that I survived."

Pamela has been receiving the hyperbaric oxygen therapy at a Los Angeles-area facility. A source says, "the treatment is working."

The therapy, which was famously used by the late Michael Jackson, fills a pressurized chamber with 100 percent oxygen, promoting faster healing, say experts. However, sometimes as many as 60 treatments are needed.

"She will go in as many times as she desires," the source adds.

Meanwhile, the former Young and the Restless star, who has daughters Taylor, 24, and Hayley, 22, with Hasselhoff, claims Arter never filed a police report about the dog attack after she was rushed to the hospital.

She's now hired attorney Nick Rowley, who says, "It's a disgrace what happened to this woman."

PORTRAIT OF COURAGE!

Brave Taya was the prosecution's first witness in her husband's murder trial

AMERICAN SNIPER Chris Kyle's brave widow Taya faced her husband's killer with the same steely resolve the late war hero displayed while under fire during four tours of Iraq.

The 40-year-old mom of two wore Chris' military dog tags and cherished Rolex Submariner watch as a tribute while testifying at the trial of Eddie Ray Routh. Even though he pled not guilty by reason of insanity, Routh admitted gunning down the former Navy SEAL and his pal Chad Littlefield at a Texas gun range two years ago.

Terrible ordeal

While confessing the trial is a terrible ordeal, courageous Taya says, "Still, there's no place I'd rather be. Everywhere I can be supporting Chris and standing up for him – I will always be there."

Taya was the prosecution's first witness and recounted the fateful day, Feb. 2, 2013, when her beloved husband was slaughtered by the troubled ex-Marine.

"We just said we loved each other and gave each other a hug and a kiss, like we always did," Taya recalled about her last moments with Chris.

She added, "He's such a unique person because he's so humble and kind and charismatic."

Taya has been instrumental in preserving her husband's legacy, even dictating how she wanted his death handled in the hit movie American Sniper, which was based on Chris' memoir.

"Five days after Chris was murdered, (Taya) called and said, 'This is going to be how my children remember their father, so I want you to get it right,'" says screenwriter Jason Hall.

American Sniper widow's fight for justice at suspect's chilling murder trial

Rather than show him being killed, the film ends with Chris getting ready to head off to the shooting range with Routh, 27, who some anti-terrorism experts believe was brainwashed by al-Qaeda operatives while serving as a prison guard in Iraq. Experts suggest Routh may have been given the secret mission to kill Kyle – and settle the terrorists' score with the sniper who picked off a reported 255 enemies of America.

Taya wanted Sandra Bullock to play her in the movie but befriended British actress Sienna Miller, who got the role. And she offered personal photos and e-mails to Chris' portrayer, Bradley Cooper, in her quest to capture the essence of her husband and their relationship.

Although she and her hubby argued over his military service, super-patriotic Chris insisted that his allegiances were to "God, country and family – in that order."

"To be third on that list is brutal," notes Miller. "Taya very graciously understood that, as hard as it was for her."

Now, Taya is seeking justice and didn't buy Routh's insanity defense based on post-traumatic stress disorder.

"I know people with PTSD, and it's very real and very hard," she says. "But it doesn't change your core character."
